The Deepest Condolence to Family of General Fereydoun JAM

It is with utmost regret to inform Iran's first four stars General Fereydoun JAM passed away in one of suburban hospital in London, England at age 94. He was a genuine patriot to Iran and his King, when he was needed the most. JAM illustrated his loyalty to Iran and his king, when His Majesty, King of Kings Reza PAHLAVI the Great was forced into exile by United Kingdom and Russia during World War Two, JAM accompanied His Majesty during times of crisis.

When JAM returned to Iran, he continued to contribute to well being of Iranian and was posted in England and assigned in embassy duties. One year before 1979 riot, he retired from his position in embassy and did not returned to Iran. He remained in England until he was departed from us.

He left big shoes for everyone to fill in, particularly during this decisive moment of toppling the Islamic Republic occupier of Iran.
